I'm a guy and I totally thought the same way that Andrew did - that women were attracted immediately just like men are. But I've had three separate conversations in the last couple weeks with women who expressed this exact sentiment - one even going so far as to say that her last bf wasn't attractive to her in the slightest when they first met.

"Women who try to attract men by being successful are like men who try to attract women by being sweet or gentle. While being sweet won't necessarily ruin a man's chances with women (in some cases it will), neither will it draw her in."

The Rules Revisited: Men Don't Care About Your Accomplishments

My worst experiences in the professional world all share one thing in common: I reported to a female boss. Talk to most guys (and, frankly, normal women) and they will say the same thing—working for a female boss, or in an environment composed of mostly women, is a descent into an endless abyss of back-biting, passive-aggressiveness, lies, envy, intrigue, subterfuge, manipulation, and drama.
