There are four parts to this message. First, I will reflect on the kind of preaching that I long to see God raise up in our day — the kind that is shaped by the weight of the glory of God. Second, I will try to portray the glory of God which affects preaching this way. Third, I will offer my biblical understanding of how people waken to this glory and are changed by it.

Why Expository Preaching Is Particularly Glorifying to ...

Most animals use defensive mimicry to avoid being eaten, but for parasites, being captured and ingested by a host is precisely the point. The Leucochloridium gender flatworms in North America and Europe infest certain land snails after exposure through bird droppings and swelling in the snail's eye stalks, which mimic tasty insects such as caterpillars or worms and usually return snail face ...
