scope: This specification covers deformed and plain carbon and low-alloy steel concrete reinforcement bars in cut lengths or coils. Steel bars containing alloy additions, such as with the AISI and SAE series of alloy steels, are permitted if the resulting product meets all the other requirements of this specification.

Hypothalamic NPY neurons stimulate strong feeding behavior when activated. Here Ip et al. show that chronic stress, combined with a high-fat diet, result in insulin de-repression of NPY neurons in the central amygdala, resulting in exaggerated obesity because of increased feeding and decreased energy expenditure.
