Teleō, "to complete an activity or process, bring to an end, finish, complete something" (BDAG 997, 1). Delling says, "The verbs teleō and teleioō coincide in the NT especially in the sense 'to carry through, to complete.' Whereas that is the chief meaning of teleō, the thought of totality is stronger in the case of teleioō. The findings suggest for teleō the meanings of telos, 'goal ...

Sam Harris does say in The End of Faith that some beliefs are so dangerous we might have some reason to take pre-emptive action against them. His view, however, does not depend on the belief itself, but the actions that will be determined by holding them. E.g. believe truly and completely that the thing God wants you to do is kill unbelievers, then that is what you do, ergo people holding that ...
