Close to the Knives Quotes Showing 1-13 of 13 "I want to throw up because we're supposed to quietly and politely make house in this killing machine called America and pay taxes to support our own slow murder and I'm amazed we're not running amok in the streets, and that we can still be capable of gestures of loving after lifetimes of all this."

Close to the Knives Quotes by David Wojnarowicz

Close to the Knives: A Memoir of Disintegration. In the course of this memoir, the author coolly sketches the outlines of a troubled adolescence--parental kidnapping, drug use, prostitution--making survival alone seem miraculous. What Kerouac was to a generation of alienated youth, what Genet was to the gay demimonde in postwar Europe,...

Nonfiction Book Review: Close to the Knives: A Memoir of ...

Close To The Knives is written with an apocalyptic urgency, because he is himself both surviving a plague, and facing down his own personal armageddon. You read it like you're sitting in a bus careening off a mountain, because that's how it was for an author facing an inevitable, early, and horrifically unfair end.
