A clue to a cause from human medicine. In humans with meal- or food-induced hypercortisolemia, patients are born with a congenital defect that results in the aberrant expression of receptors for glucagon inhibitory peptide (GIP) on the adrenal gland. 2 When stimulated by GIP, the adrenal glands in these patients produce cortisol. GIP is produced by the stomach during every meal, and it ...

The following is a list of people who are considered a "father" or "mother" (or "founding father" or "founding mother") of a scientific field. Such people are generally regarded to have made the first significant contributions to and/or delineation of that field; they may also be seen as "a" rather than "the" father or mother of the field. Debate over who merits the title can be perennial.
