You know who doesn't get enough credit in the books? Rhunön. She's such a fucking badass and is so criminally underrated. In a race where everyone can choose to look young and beautiful, she doesn't give a shit and let's herself look old and natural.

Inheritance Cycle Headcanons and AUs

Several criticisms have been leveled at the Inheritance Cycle in terms of story, characterization, and even strategical decisions. But little has been said about the magic (other than that it steals its mechanics from Earthsea), which is odd, because it is frankly one of the most absurdly described things in Christopher Paolini's work. In fact, I would say it is my main criticism of the story ...

Chapter 42. A whole day passed before Rhunön finally made her decision, which irritated the clone at the amount of time that was wasted. It was apparent that the elven smith had chosen the first option, which didn't overly surprise the clone as if it or Naruto failed, then her soul would forever scatter.
