A physical quantity is a physical property of a material that can be quantified by measurement. A physical quantity can be expressed as the combination of a magnitude expressed by a number – usually a real number – and a unit: where is the magnitude and is the unit. For example,  $1.674 \times 10^{-27}$  kg (the mass of the neutron), or 299 792 458 metres per second (the speed of light).

Science in a broad sense existed before the modern era and in many historical civilizations. Modern science is distinct in its approach and successful in its results, so it now defines what science is in the strictest sense of the term. Science in its original sense was a word for a type of knowledge, rather than a specialized word for the pursuit of such knowledge. In particular, it was the ...
