AURA'S P.O.V. There was writing all over the page and most of it was scribbled out but I could make out a few lines. 'Don't live in the past it's scarier then the future' 'Don't look back. Run like fucking hell.' 'They're gonna regret this when we run the world' 'You say this is hell? This is my fucking life! I was about to read more when...

In "Don't Look Back," Lily is trying to make a new life based on lies. Trevor is presented as the manipulating bully and he is, but the other male characters in both books are weak. The author spends quite a bit of time delineating the character of Lily but brushes over the males making them one dimensional.

CHRIS' P.O.V. "Chris this is the worst idea you've ever had!" Aura screamed as I sped down the highway back to Scranton. Once I saw he had escaped I had no doubt where his first visit would be. "Aura he's gonna go back to the house first thing. He wants me dead, I know it." I said through gritted teeth. I yanked the car off the highway and down to our house.

Once again Ben Cheetham has delivered another fast paced, bite your nails thriller. I couldn't stop reading this book until I knew what was going to happen. That being said, I could like to see him write a sequel to Don't Look Back because I would like to know more about the family I came to care about. Now...On to my next Ben Cheetham novel...

DON'T LOOK BACK, by Karen Fossum, is a really good book, and it is made even better by the journey it took for me to read it. I picked up her novel BAD INTENTIONS. It's the 7th in the Konrad Sejer detective series.

I remember REST STOP (2006) being a decent DTV horror movie. I remember nothing else. I thought maybe it was about a slasher who hides in a rest stop restroom or something. I don't know. So the opening of the sequel, REST STOP: DON'T LOOK BACK (2008) was a little befuddling. It starts in 1972 on 'The Old Highway,' when a 'Yes Jesus Loves Me' singing family picks up a hitchhiker in their RV.
